The University of La Verne Law Review publishes two issues annually, a Juvenile Law issue and Symposium issue. The Juvenile Law issue is devoted to topics relating to juvenile law, and continues the historic mission of the Journal of Juvenile Law, published by the University of La Verne College of Law from 1977-2007. The Symposium issue focuses on a different subject each year, selected by the Editorial Board.

Prices for subscription will be as follows:

Subscriptions to the complete Volume (both issues) are $35 per year ($40 foreign).
Subscriptions to the Juvenile Law issue only are $20 per year ($25 foreign).
Subscriptions to the Symposium issue only are $20 per year ($25 foreign).
Single issues may also be purchased for $20 ($25 foreign).

We would like to offer our alumni and other interested members of the legal community an opportunity to contribute to the University of La Verne Law Review as Patron or Lifetime Patron Subscribers. Names of Patron and Lifetime Patron subscribers will appear in the front pages of the University of La Verne Law Review.

Patron and Lifetime Patron rates are as follows:

University of La Verne Law Review Patron: $350 annually
University of La Verne Law Review Lifetime Patron: $3500 (one time)
Juvenile Law Issue Patron: $150 annually
Juvenile Law Issue Lifetime Patron: $1500 (one time)
